What Can Floyd Nutrition Offer You as an Independent Distributor?

Our goal is to sell our products and change lives in every corner of the globe. We are actively seeking business partners in the US, Canada, and abroad to work with, that share our vision of helping people lose weight and improve their overall health and quality of life. Through this process, we will strive to help our business partners to be enormously successful and prosperous.

So, whether you are a very large company with vast distribution network in your region, or a smaller distributor that wants to sell highly effective weight loss products and increase revenues, we would like to partner with you.

The natural health industry is thriving around the world with almost $60 billion in natural product sales last year in the USA alone. But even thriving businesses cannot remain stagnant - they must continue to grow and bring their customers fresh and new products that meet their needs. Your business must also be able to work with profit margins that make it very lucrative to market them.

We are totally committed to providing you with:

- Unique, Effective and High Quality Health Products
- Outstanding Support
- Highest Possible Profit Margins
- A Strong and Credible USA Brand Name
- An Incredible Marketing Opportunity For Your Region or Country
- An Industry That Is Exploding In Growth

- Ongoing Investment in Research and Development to Continue to offer you new and innovative products

You don't even have to sell direct to the consumer. We offer distribution exclusivity for entire regions and countries if the distributor is able to meet modest purchase requirements--usually only 500 to 1,000 product units purchased per year depending on country population. You can then deal strictly with other businesses wanting to sell the products as your sub-distributors to a variety of sales channels. These can be sales channels such as radio, magazines and other print media, the internet, network marketing, direct mail, catalogs, etc.

A key to your success in the consumer marketplace is to offer highly effective all-natural dietary supplements and health solutions that few of your competitors are offering. Find a need in the marketplace. We have done that for you by addressing some of the most serious health problems our world faces, but are underserved in the marketplace. It is a tremendous opportunity for you to market products that are all-natural, effective and safe, that addresses a multitude of health conditions faced by many people today.

We believe that being a person of integrity, as well as being a good company, is good business. As a business, we believe we must pay close attention to the market to discover what people really need, and meet that need. We have tried to do that since we first opened our doors back in 2009, and have worked hard to create real solutions that have a lasting and significant impact on our customers, their families, and friends.

A business partnership with Floyd Nutrition is not just about making money - it is a way to dramatically benefit people and their quality of life. Our goal is nothing less than to change people's lives for the better, and on as large a scale as we possibly can. We want you and your company to be a part of that.
